

Crucial PROMISe Dates Identified

PCPA has developed a series of PROMISe Infos resulting from several meetings with EVS staff (the contractor developing PROMISe) and other state officials. As the second in the series of Infos, the dates listed below are crucial for providers to be aware of.

December 1, 2003	New Provider Handbooks available on DPW web site
January 15, 2004 – January 30, 2004	Notification of new PROMISe Provider Identification numbers issued to currently enrolled MAMIS providers
Mid January	New PROMISe provider enrollment forms will be available
February 2, 2004	Last Date OMAP will accept PAPER claims in old format (date of receipt, not submission date)
February 12, 2004 (noon)	Last Date OMAP will accept ELECTRONIC claims in old format (date of receipt, not submission date) *
February 9, 2004	First Date to submit PAPER claims in new PROMISe format
March 1, 2004	First Date to submit ELECTRONIC claims in new PROMISe format
February 13, 2004	Any claim in a Pended status as of this date will be rejected and must be resubmitted by the provider to PROMISe in the new claim format to be considered for payment.
February 19, 2004	Simultaneous MAMIS EVS (electronic verification system) shutdown and start up PROMISe EVS
February 23, 2004 – February 25, 2004	No Prior Authorization requests processed (Providers must follow weekend guidelines for prior authorization requests during this time)

February 23, 2004	Last MAMIS Remittance Advice date
March 1, 2004	First date the Provider Electronic Solutions (PES) software version 3.0 may be used
March 8, 2004	First PROMISe Remittance Advice date

*Due to the expected high volume of electronically submitted claims, providers are strongly encouraged to plan ahead. Waiting until the last day to submit claims will result in the potential for a system overload and some claims might not be delivered.

**OMAP is aware of the approximately two-week delay in submitting claims between February 12 and March 1 and the cash flow problems it can create. They are working to provide payment quickly to minimize any effect the delay would have.
