

Director, Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

RCPA, a Pennsylvania statewide association of human service providers, is seeking to fill the position of Director of the Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (IDD) Division. Operating out of the state's capital region of Harrisburg, this senior-level position will be responsible for directing the association's public policy and member services for providers of IDD services. The IDD Director supports the CEO, advocates with government officials, researches and responds to issues impacting members, writes position papers and persuasive correspondence to policymakers, and collaborates with other RCPA staff, including its director of government affairs. Advanced degree and/or knowledge of state-funded IDD services, government affairs, Medicaid home and community-based waivers, or vocational rehabilitation preferred. Competitive salary and benefits. Interested persons should email their resume and cover letter to RCPA President/CEO Richard Edley no later than November 28.