Substance Use Disorders: Myths, Treatment Barriers, and Interventions

Understanding substance use disorders (SUDs) are critical when working with staff, residents, and their families. The myths and misinformation about these chronic conditions are barriers to treatment services. This hybrid training will provide critical information to increase understanding, improve communication, and identify approaches that offer long-term recovery and improved quality of life. This hybrid training consists of a 3-hour self-paced prerequisite and a 3-hour virtual live training. 6-credit hours will be issued after completion of both requirements.

This free training is provided by Temple University Harrisburg and funded by the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services Bureau of Human Services Licensing.

Technology Requirements:
Audio and video ARE required to be turned on for the live, 3-hour training on the Zoom platform. Audio is required for the self-paced online prerequisite. Please note that driving during the live training is not permitted. If you do not have audio on your computer, the Zoom platform can be accessed on your smartphone or tablet. You must have the hardware (desktop or laptop, tablet or smartphone) and software (Browsers such as Chrome, Safari, Firefox or Microsoft Edge) to access the internet. A broadband internet connection (DSL, cable, fiber, etc.) is recommended with a hardwired Ethernet cable. Wireless (Wi-Fi) connections may be utilized but a weak or congested signal may cause issues with video buffering or content access.
